Some of the Republican papers which at first were shocked at the news from Harper's Ferry, and hastened to denounce the insurgests as traitors who should all be ferreted out and hanged, have dropped down from their positions, and have since been engaged to excusing them, if they have not directly defended them. A large number of Republicans—particularly in the West—are averse to the movements of the Brown Republicans; so they say, and we believe them; but their organs and the men forces to the men and the men Some of the Republican papers which at first believe them; but their organs and the men who claim to lead them, and do lead them, are either in favor of "Brown's Work," or what is preciselly equivalent, sympatize with him, and denounce those who depresets such "work," and the teachings which prompt it. New we from Pittsylvania informs us that this terri-ble disease is still making powerful inroads among the logs of his neighborhood. Many repeat what we have said already several times, that all Republicane make themselves more or less responsible for survile insurrections just so long as they remain in an organization whose tanchers and leaders are responsible directly for it.

The Harper's Ferry business was a legitimate result of the "irrepressible conflict" teachings is to mix it with their food, at the rate of a teaspoonful to the hog, say once in two result of the "itrepressible conflict" teachings of Seward, and the rest of the leaders of the party who believe and teach it. Now, there is no way of getting over this, and if conservative the paper said he got the idea from noticing Republicans do not want to best the odum of the hogs seeking for pine roots,—[Danville] such "work" they must discard their leaders (Va.) Transcript. and their organs. There is no other way. The man who holds the bag in his neighbor's earn crib, and the one who puts the corn in it, on fire last week, making a most brilliant illus are alike guilty of theft; legally and morally, there is no difference between the criminals --There can be no difference between the teachers of tresson, and those who sid and abet them; no difference can be made between those whose ectrines directly tend to servile insurrection in No. 292, cor. of Fifth and Stone Streets the South, and those who support and uphold those who teach it. Now, this is plainly putting the case. There is no sophistry about it; it is just as plain as that "two and two make four;" just as palpable as that if you put your hand in the fire it will be borned.

We appeal to all right-thinking men if it be not true that to the ceaseless agitation of the ue gre question we are indebted for the insurrection at Harper's Ferry, as well as the long list of "outrages" in the past, which have been the manufact fruitful theme of so much disturbance in the country. Until abolitionism-the rank disu nion sentiment of the north-was made respectable by Republican sympathy, association and votes, it was powerless for evil. This is true, as every body knows. Strip it of the Res Lively Times, publican disguise, and it will again be the detestable powerless thing it was prior to its embodiment into the Republican ranks.

To the Emigrant Aid Societies that were got ten up by abolitionists, on a Bible and Sharpe's Rifle basis, we are indebted for all the "outrages" in Kansas. Before any settlements were made in the Territory, these "Someties" were organized throughout the east, and threats were made of what would be done with alavehold ers, &c., before a foot was started toward Kansas. These bostile demonstrations, before emigration, and the arming of men to fight before there was an enemy in the field, is just what got up a counter feeling of antagonism in the Slave States; to this may be attributed all the trouble in a territory where prace reigned. Had the free state men went quietly into Kansas, without sending in advance threats, and the news of a determination to fight any body who crooked a finger at them, there would have been no hostile force to appose them; there would have been no outrages; we would have had peace.

This is, we believe, plain to every one whose This is, we believe, plain to every one whose judgment has not been warped by insidious fanaticism; to every one eyes have not been star Clothing store! FINE Suburban property in full view of, and handsomely everlooking the city. Those having property to exchange will find it to their instead by looking into Sharpe's rifles. No atwinted by looking into Sharpe's rifles, No man ever went into Kansas with peaceable in tent, kept aloof from the fusses of the fanatics of the North and fire eaters of the South, but w to escaped annoyance. The abolitionists bid for a fors before they started; they went to Kanfor a fuss ; and they got it. The blame of getting up the trouble there rests on the mischievous acitators of the negro question; the ac., kepten hand, and Clothi responsibility of keeping it up rests on all who engaged in it.
